All About LED

LED stands for Light Emitting Diode, which is a tiny computer chip encased in glass. Each LED emits a wavelength of light that provides unique therapeutic benefits. LightStim for Wrinkles is equipped with 72 medical-grade LEDs that utilize light stimulation within the amber, light red, dark red, and infrared spectrums.

Epidermis
(outermost layers of skin)

Dermis
(inner layers of skin)

1. Epidermis

Skin renewal, protection, and moisture retention

2. Dermis

Provides firmness, plumpness and support with collagen and elastin

3. Hypodermis

Cushion, insulation, and connection

4 Wavelengths Are Better Than 1

Unlike some LED devices, LightStim for Wrinkles is equipped with 4 wavelengths of light that treats fine lines and wrinkles within multiple layers of skin.
